

YOU MAY HAVE HEARD OF THE SINGLE PLY ROOFING ASSOCIATION BUT DO YOU KNOW WHAT IT STANDS FOR?

The Single Ply Roofing Association provides a quality trail from project conception to eventual refurbishment. It's objective is to provide the latest membrane roofing technology with reliability and cost effectiveness. It represents professionalism, quality of design and installation to meet or exceed industry standards and codes of practice.

When you select or specify a SPRA contractor you are getting the best. SPRA contractor operatives must be properly trained and licensed in the product they are to install and the manufacturer is required to monitor installation to give you warranted peace of mind.

All SPRA applicants must pass an 'a comprehensive document audit including reports from SPRA membrane manufacturers to confirm high standards achieved on site. before membership is confirmed. Thereafter, annual audits of training achieved, business performance and necessary insurance check compliance. SPRA also undertakes its own random site inspections.

By comparing the tenders from SPRA contractor members you are comparing like with like without compromising on quality.

See below for more details on how SPRA membership criteria and features serve the construction cycle....
